

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Three St. Johnsbury men who spent last week fishing at Maidstone lake caught 600 trout.

Ernest Cook fell from a ladder while picking cherries in Brattleboro recently and broke an arm.

While William Phillips of East Burke was shooting at a target a few days ago, he shot off the end of a finger.

A specimen of moonwort fern, rare in Vermont, only one other station being recorded, has been found in St. Johnsbury.

The sum of $4,000 has been appropriated by the Rutland board of aldermen to be expended on sewer work this summer.

O. H. Henderson celebrated his 42d anniversary as station agent at the Boston & Maine depot in St. Johnsbury last Sunday.

A horse belonging to Dr. William H. Hurley of Northfield fell while going down hill there Monday, breaking a hip in two places.

Lighting struck the house of Winnie Dubuque in Grand Isle Sunday, splintering one rafter and blowing the griddles off the cook stove.

Cyrus M. Belden, one of Benson's oldest citizens, who has reached the age of 91 years, has one of the best gardens in town and has cared for it alone.

As H. F. Weatherhead of Brattleboro was getting ready to mow some grass Monday, a scythe which was standing near him slipped and struck him on his left hand, making a cut several inches long, which necessitated his removal to the Memorial hospital.

When George Turner, the St. Johnsbury man who was so badly burned by an upset kerosene lamp that he died, was taken to Brightlook hospital, the attendants found $385 sewed into the belt of his trousers. The money had not been damaged by the flames.

A lemon tree owned in the family of George M. Hascall of Rutland is this year bearing fruit for the first time. It was started from a seedling about 10 years ago and has on it now two large lemons, nearly twice as large as ordinary ones and another lemon has already been picked. There are many blossoms and flower buds. The tree is three feet tall.

Henry J. Whitcomb of Springfield, Mass., a native of Springfield, Vt., has given his summer residence in the latter place and six acres of land to the Springfield Hospital association as a site for the new hospital building. It will be known as the Whitcomb memorial home for nurses, in memory of Mr. Whitcomb's wife, who died last summer. A $50,000 hospital building will be erected on the site, the necessary funds having been nearly provided.

VERMONT COMPLIMENTED

On Having Best Red Cross Organization of Any State.

The work of the Vermont chapter of the American Red Cross in closing up the statewide membership campaign which was conducted from May 28 to June 2 has been practically completed. As announced a short time ago the total membership in Vermont has passed the 45,000 mark, while the goal set for this state on the basis of membership in other states was only 35,000. Since the close of the campaign the membership headquarters in Burlington has been assisting the local branches in their organization in addition to preparing the forms required by Washington for every member. A card which is kept on file must be made for every member who is enrolled in the Red Cross and all the names are sent in to Washington, where they are enrolled in the national organization.

Vermont also provided a certificate of membership for every new member and those have just been made out and are being sent to the local branches for distribution. The state has refunded to the branches 25 cents on each member, this amount being used to provide the means for local work. These refunds have just been figured and practically all the towns have received their share. The total expense of the membership campaign will amount to about 10 percent of the membership fees collected, which is remarkably low. Over one third of the expense was for supplies used in the work sent from the New England division headquarters at Boston. All the forms which are made out in connection with the campaign were prescribed by the national headquarters and were procured at cost from the division headquarters at Boston.

Practically all of the workers of the campaign week were volunteers, including the men who gave their time in speaking throughout the state and those who directed the campaign from the Burlington headquarters. The salary expense has been very small, as none of the clerical help, including the secretary's office, received more than $12 per week. Mr. Proctor, state chairman, has given practically his entire time to the work without compensation, as have all the members of the state executive committee. An itemized account of all expenses is being prepared and will be duly audited as is customary with all Red Cross funds.

Vermont's Red Cross organization received last week a very gratifying compliment from the national headquarters at Washington when it was stated that this state was better organized than any other in the union. At the time of the Mexican border trouble which brought about an expansion of Red Cross activities, Secretary Howard put into effect the plan of having the state chapter subdivided into local branches in the individual towns, their organization controlled and their work assisted by a state executive office and state executive committee. At the first conference of delegates at the annual meeting in Washington, D. C., two years ago, Mr. Howard, with representatives from other states, urged this plan as giving more efficient service and relieving the pressure at national headquarters, where all chapters report. The national Red Cross is now planning a reorganization according to this method, making in each state a central headquarters with a state executive committee, following the plan of Vermont.

The work of the war fund committee will not be completed for some time yet. To date about $84,000 has been actually collected by the branches of the $175,000 raised. All of the money must be paid in before Oct. 1, and before that time a plan which is now under consideration will be launched to raise Vermont's final total to $200,000, the quota assigned.

The following letter in regard to important Red Cross work has been sent to all the local branches:

To All Branches Vermont Chapter, American Red Cross:
The Red Cross supply service, Boston, has sent the following request for the Immediate Needs of Allies.

1. Based upon recent cable advice from our allies the following supplies are urgently needed and all chapters are asked to ship to the nearest branch warehouse of the Red Cross supply service whatever supplies they may have on hand corresponding to this list and to speed up their work rooms on these particular articles.

350 bathrobes or convalescent gowns.
100,000 pairs bed socks.
700,000 handkerchiefs.
650,000 hospital bed shirts.
450,000 suits pajamas.
300,000 shoulder wraps.
800,000 pairs socks.
250,000 pairs ward slippers.

These hospital garments are greatly needed now and should be made according to specifications given in A R C 165, pages 7-8.

The production of handbags and surgical dressings, however, should not be allowed to fall off on account of this special appeal, as cable messages from Paris and Rome ask for a constant supply of these in view of the recent heavy fighting and the difficulty of getting the raw materials abroad.

A special effort should be made to have the above articles shipped at the earliest date possible.

2. It is requested by the bureau of medical service of the American Red Cross, that all inquiries regarding first aid instruction in the state of Vermont be addressed to Dr. E. G. Twitcheil, 125 St. Paul street, Burlington, Vt. Dr. Twitcheil has full authority to appoint instructors and examiners.

3. All inquiries regarding Red Cross nursing service and instruction, should be addressed to Mrs. A. G. Ferguson, R. N., Burlington.

4. All inquiries in regard to surgical dressing and hospital supplies should be sent to Miss Bertha Carey, Proctor.

Important Notice.

We still lack pajamas, comfort bags and "housewives" for our Vermont men. Will you send more immediately? Over 1,500 pajamas were distributed and we lack 600. Troops must be supplied before they leave.

Branches who have promised to supply their own companies have not as yet responded, with the result that their men are not supplied. Please see that your Vermont men are supplied.

Do not sew red crosses on pajamas for Vermont boys.
5. The Red Cross supply depot, Burlington, for shipment of pajamas, comfort bags (filled) and "housewives," only for Vermont soldiers, has been changed from state army to the high school building, Burlington. (Address packages carefully.)

H. S. Howard, Chapter Secretary.

DENIED ALLEGATIONS.

Mrs. Eugenie Deyette Broke Down in Trial of Divorce Suit.

Burlington, July 19.—Choking with sobs, Mrs. Eugenie Deyette, wife of John E. Deyette, answered the questions put to her in the severe cross-examination by Attorney J. J. Enright, which she was subjected to yesterday, in the trial of the dual divorce case now going on before Judge Butler in Chittenden county court.

Mr. Enright began to question her regarding her experience at New Bedford, Mass., where she went to attend the burial of Wallace Stanbridge. She identified photographs of flowers which she had ordered placed on the grave of the young man with whom, the attorneys for her husband are trying to prove she was in love, whom she had planned to marry after she secured a divorce from Mr. Deyette.

Before the witness had been on the stand 15 minutes she broke down and from then on until a short recess was declared by the court, her answers were given through sobs, which she had difficulty to control.

Her mother, sitting across the court room, was also affected when her daughter broke down.

Witness identified a photograph of herself which she said she had given Wallace before she was married.

Asked about being introduced to a drug clerk at New Bedford by Mrs. Stanbridge, she couldn't recollect the incident.

Mr. Deyette came to Gloverville during the time she was there and gave her money to go to New Bedford to attend the funeral of Stanbridge.

Witness said that Mr. Deyette treated her all right the first year or two after they were married and was very kind to her at the time the first child was born in the hospital.

The presence of her mother was distasteful to Mr. Deyette and at the time he pushed her out of the house. Her mother was not with them more than two months, however, during the period of 1912-13.

It was at this point that the witness broke down and sobbed. Mr. Enright asked her if her husband didn't complain because of the presence of her mother in the house so much and about her "proving around" nights from room to room. Witness emphatically denied this.

Coming to the time in 1914 when the family camped for three weeks at Mallett's Bay, she denied that her husband refused to have her mother, her sister, Rose, and Mrs. Grant, another sister, all at camp. She also denied that she knew that Mr. Grant, upon a subsequent visit to Burlington, had words with Mr. Deyette because he "didn't want Mrs. Grant camping with the family."

"Did you and Rose (the sister now dead) have a couple of young fellows at camp at Mallett's Bay?" the attorney flung at the witness.

"Most certainly not," said Mrs. Deyette.

"And did you and Rose go out constantly with them on the lake and around the woods?"

"No, No, No—I never went anywhere with them. They were children anyway," she sobbed.

"Did Rose and you pin a note addressed to the boys, on the door of the camp, when you left?"

"No, I did not. Rose did."

"Who were these 'children' you speak about?"

"I don't remember. One was named Hall, I believe."

"Did Mr. Deyette object to the attorney's questions?"

"Yes, he did."

"Did he object to the attorney's questions?"

"Yes, he did."

"Did he object to the attorney's questions?"

"Yes, he did."

"Did he object to the attorney's questions?"

"Yes, he did."

"Did he object to the attorney's questions?"

"Yes, he did."

tion and Rose were paying the boys, and say that the house was being neglected?"

Witness denied that this was so.
